GOLF RESORT & COUNTRY CLUB

Rally For The Cure Event Scheduled for November 8

Emerald Greens will hold a special ladies tennis event benefitting the Susan G. Komen Foundation for Breast Cancer Research on Nov. 8. A strong turnout of Emerald Greens members is expected.

Chosen as one of four sites holding this event simultaneously, division winners from all four sites will advance to the finals the following week. There are divisions for various levels of play.

Aside from playing for a good cause, this event is sure to be fun, with all kinds of interesting additions such as mulligan points. A reception for players and guests in The Emerald Room will follow the tournament.

Each division has a limited number of participants allowed, so register early by contacting one of our member representatives. Nola Smith can be reached by emailing reveley@aol.com. Linda Kraft can be emailed at clkraft@verizon.net.

Lessons & Clinics Seven Days A Week

We offer lessons seven days a week as well as four weekly adult clinics for players of any level.

Our Fundamentals Clinics are for players looking to focus on fundamentals. A Workout Clinic is also offered for those who want to improve their fitness. Clinics are open participation and there is no minimum participation requirement.

Private lessons are by appointment and we have all kinds of lessons from standard technical lesson to hitting and video sessions.

You can sign up for any lesson by calling 961-1366 or emailing tennis@emeraldgreensgcc.com.

Rizzo and Peter Marsocci took first place in one division while the other division was captured by Bob Sosenko, Joyce Smith, Carol Sosenko and Bill Lynn.

Longtime Club member Dick Woltmann started a program to develop youth tennis players in Ghana while serving in the Peace Corps in 1972. Nearly 40 years later, thanks to events like this, the program remains effective.

After-School Tennis Program Underway

Emerald Greens 2008-2009 After-School Junior Program began Aug. 25 with the goal of creating lifelong tennis players. Once again, the program offers three classes for children.

The Learning to Hit class is for the youngest children, ages 4-7 and teaches proper basic strokes and ball contact with balance. The Learning to Play class is for children ages 8-14 who are either beginners or have some experience. In this class, students get experience playing out live points and matches. The Learning to Win class is for students ages 8-14 with scholastic or USTA tournament experience. All classes are in six week sessions. To register, call 961-1366 or send email to tennis@emeraldgreensgcc.com

Ghana Fundraiser Surpasses $1,000 for Youth Development

An afternoon of fun team tennis on Aug. 31 ended with more than $1,000 raised to promote Youth Tennis Development in Ghana, West Africa.

Eight teams battled in two divisions. The team of Gerry Silva, Char Turk, Terry
